Pequea's spreaders have earned a strong reputation for durability, simplicity, and performance. At Farmco, we're honored to continue that legacy with the same commitment to quality American craftsmanship. With this addition, we're filling a vital equipment gap in our lineup—dependable spreaders for horse owners, hobby farmers, and homesteaders nationwide.

Here's What This Means for You:

We want to thank the team at Pequea for their years of design and development. Their work laid the foundation for a spreader that truly meets the needs of smaller-scale manure handling—and we're honored to continue that legacy under the Farmco name.
